

WNCARRY has made a name for itself in the personal defense training market. They pride themselves in the highest quality training available, the best knowledgeable staff and most importantly customer satisfaction. Far too often customers run into those “so called instructors” whose training is more a liability than ability. At WNCARRY we encourage you to take the time to check around, ask questions and feel good with your decision on the person teaching you. Here at WNCARRY we want our students to fully grasp the concepts we teach in our classes.

John is a certified NC General Instructor and has been teaching for 14 plus years. He has an extensive background in corrections, emergency response teams, chemical munitions, private protective security, basic life support, and incident command systems.

John was the leader of the DOP's 1st Platoon ERT in the western area for several years before leaving. John has also taught for the NC DOC In Service and Basic Training Programs, Private Protective Services, DOC PERT Team, Federal DOI adjunct, local community colleges and as a private instructor.

John currently instructs NC Conceal Carry, Close Quarters Combat Pistol, Advance Level II Firearms, Safariland Chemicals (Nation Certification), NRA Pistol, Woman's Self Defense, Rape Prevention, Team Building, Tactical Positional Awareness and Public Pepper Spray (OC) classes

Well known for a positive teaching style in the class room and his hands on lectureing abilities. "Being prepared, is not just a saying, it's something we must practice. As with any learned skill - failure to practice equals diminished abilities." "Correct practice makes better, but nothing is perfect or full proof".

Tony has several years' experience in instruction and corrections. He is a NC General Instructor as well and brings a balanced approach in teaching. His knowledge base on team building is broad and this shows in his teaching abilities.

Tony specializes in self-defense, weapons retention, weapon disarming and in special chemical applications. He has served as an emergency response team leader as well as a special operations officer on the NC PERT team. Tony has strong background in the urban operations and has honed his skills well. He continues to bring new life to the classes and his dedication to the team is unmatched.

We look forward to seeing you in our training and hope you return many times for new classes, most importantly tell others about the WNCARRY team and always be safe!
